We're pretty obsessed with all things Christmas here at Country Living HQ, so it should come as no surprise that we turn on Christmas tunes pretty much the second our Thanksgiving plates are cleared. With the holiday season well underway, we figured it was only fair to share our love of timeless holiday songs with a playlist comprehensive enough to last all the way through December 25. Our suggestion? Hit play when you're decorating the tree, wrapping presents, or entertaining friends and family. 'The Holly and the Ivy': Natalie Cole and Jose Carreras (1995). There seems to be a bit of irony that one of the most popular of all Christmas songs in the United Kingdom would be set in New York. Irish folk-rockers The Pogues released "Fairytale of New York" in 1987, and it has been a favorite ever since. "Carol of the Bells" is a Ukrainian holiday song based around a four-note motif taken from a pagan Ukrainian New Year's chant. Destiny's FINE stopped by CBS's "Early Show" to deliver their masterful a capella performance of the song. answered Philip Glass. Today on Amazon, you can boost your Glass catalog for the low-low price of zilch. Top 5 Pins of the Week: Creative Christmas Wrapping, Glittery Ornaments, and More. 'Angels We Have Heard on High': Sixpence None the Richer (2008). Streaming music: The number of plays on online radio stations like Pandora, Spotify, Apple Music, Yahoo Music and AOL Music are counted toward the total number of streams. Playing a music video on YouTube also counts as a song play.

"Winter Wonderland" was originally written and recorded in 1934. It quickly became considered a Christmas classic despite the fact the holiday is never specifically mentioned in the song. Jason Mraz performed the classic live on "The Late Late Show With Craig Kilborn" in 2003. With Tesla bleeding money, Elon Musk initiates hardcore spending review. Daryl Hall and John Oates - "Jingle Bell Rock". "Christmas (Baby Please Come Home)" was first recorded by Darlene Love in 1963 for the legendary Phil Spector album "A Christmas Gift for You from Phil Spector." U2 put together their cover of the song for the 1987 Special Olympics benefit album, "A Very Special Christmas." John Lennon already had a Christmas classic under his belt. "Wonderful Christmastime" is Paul McCartney's effort and features a distinctive synthesizer riff. "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas" was introduced by Judy Garland in a poignant moment in the 1944 movie musical "Meet Me in St. Louis." The filmmakers complained that in the first version, the song's lyrics were too depressing and commissioned a rewrite that became the most popular interpretation. Radio: Once a song becomes popular enough to be picked up by radio stations, it can gain a lot of traction and earn a spot on the Billboard Hot 100. So grab a Christmas cookie (or two or three), crank up the fireplace, and enjoy these classics, courtesy of Spotify. Be sure to share any of your favorites that we might have missed in the comments below! But the song isn't really a Christmas song at all. Rather, its a tale of heartbreak about a failed relationship. The music video, viewed 221 million times on YouTube, is a montage of slow-motion pans and longing looks, filmed at an

The Billboard Hot 100 is published weekly by Billboard magazine. It's a list of the most popular 100 songs in the U.S. Billboard also tracks whether a song is higher or lower on the charts each week, its peak position and its total weeks on the chart. You can watch the music video and listen to almost every song directly on the Billboard website. In addition to the Hot 100, Billboard also tracks the Billboard 200 and the Artists 100. You can also view the top played songs on the radio, top streaming songs, top digital song sales and top hits of the year. These are some of our most ambitious editorial projects. Enjoy!
