A pawn shop business loans money to customers, using jewelry, electronics, collectibles and other personal items as collateral. In the state of New York, a pawn shop business is known officially as a collateral loan broker. The state and th. What Are Some Common Items That Might Be Useless Soon?. None of us "TEENS" have TEENS, so we usually gift to each other and the parents. I also do something for my boss(es) and I have one coworker, so maybe for her as well. As for friends, we choose to do an "experience" like spa days or dinner out, etc. The problem I'm having is that, since we don't have TEENren, all of us tend to just get what we want on our own, so we seem to be swapping gift cards. I don't see the point, but find it hard to tell my small family how I feel. Any suggestions? You must have fingerprints taken within five days of filing an online pawnbroker license application. Fingerprinting requires a photo identification and a $75 processing fee. Pilgrim New York: 70 Orchard Street, New York, NY. 4 p.m.— One of my responsibilities in the office is to "quality check" the films before we screen them to make sure the file isn't weird or corrupted— a.k.a. I just have to watch the films. I don't particularly like the film I watch today (which is out of the ordinary, since I usually do) but I still think I learned something from watching it. Royal Xmas tree seen as Princess Anne awards MBEs. Geraldine James, Christmas home and decorations buyer at Selfridges, said, 'We've been working on this year's Christmas Shop since Christmas last year. 'So, we have to make sure we're ready to showcase Christmas decorations they will truly treasure.'. 9:20 a.m.— For the first time ever, I wake up before my alarm. I decide to stay in bed scrolling through social media. After about 20 minutes, I finally get up to shower, get dressed, and do my makeup. I head to the kitchen and make coffee and toast for breakfast, and then cook zucchini and cut up cucumbers for a little lunch salad. I pack it all up, and I'm out the door before 11. Unexpected finds—Mio teddy bears, clay furniture by Maarten Baas—are the draw at SoHo's Moss. I have started to get my wife to tell me everyone who we are buying for. My side is easy, my brother and my parents. Her side is more complicated, nieces, nephews, baby cousins, dirty santa, god TEENren, etc. I have already started working on a budget, fortunately, I started putting money aside in the middle of the year for Christmas. What is your budget looking like for this holiday season? Are you happy with it?. Give or take a little depending on how well we stick to the plan;) There are times I need to spend a little over to get something REALLY cool for people, and others when I find incredible deals and end up spending a lot less for the same thing. But we'll see how this year treats us. Either way not a bad budget, at least to me. Especially considering the wife and I only do around $50 a piece to keep things low key as we tend to spend more (around $100-$150) on each other on our birthdays instead. Which also happens to fall in December;) It's one crazy gift giving month, that's for sure. For those swapping gift cards or for people who want to get out of Everyone buying gifts. I suggest a gift swap. Either drawing names or doing it "yankee gift swap" style. And make it a dollar limit and/or theme this is actually a fun way to do it and it's more of a game than getting something you need. My cousins and I did this one year to stop my aunts from all trying to buy us stuff we didn't need. They couldn't afford it, they were all generic gifts, some of us had to haul all those candles and things home, and we were doing ok for ourselves so it was silly. We said no one buys for each other—instead, here is what we are doing. It was open to whoever wanted to participate, and if you didn't, that was fine too. It took the pressure off. after awhile, we stopped doing that too but it served its purpose of weaning people off of that gift rollercoaster. Oh no, this isn't very punny, now is it?. 1:40 p.m.— Lunchtime. I head out to the garden and eat while listening to my book. I check my email and remember I get paid today! My paycheck is always less than I expect because of taxes, but money is money. Industry City is opening its ice rink by Volvo Car USA at the end of Thanksgiving week on November 27 and the beloved Dreamland Roller Rink by Lola Star in December. RECOMMENDED: The best places to go ice-skating in NYC "Here at IC, we, fortunately, have the gift of space in a city that so often finds it sparse," said Jim Somoza, Director of Development at Industry City. "We wanted to make sure we used that space in a tactful manner, while also incorporating our diverse tenant base when so many need outlets to create memories and experiences. The addition of both rinks, we hope, will offer New Yorkers not only something to look forward to these days but something to remember for years to come." This year, Industry City's ice rink in Courtyard 5/6 will be open during the winter season every Thursday-Sunday until March 1. (It will also be larger than last year's rink!) And when you're not skating on the heated outdoor rink, decorated with tons of holiday décor, you can grab a cup of hot chocolate from Frying Pan Brooklyn next door. You can skate during the following hours: When themed socks and evergreen-scented candles just aren't cutting it for gifts this holiday season, an experience you can only have in New York City is key to a memorable gift exchange.
