They are easy to chew off, so you may want to remove them yourself before your dog or puppy gets the chance. Bloggers and writers on the Internet frequently offer contests on their websites for toys and other items provided by manufacturers, especially near the holidays. Visit websites such as Online-Sweepstakes to search for giveaways for specific toys and gifts. While it can be time-consuming and entrants will have to share their email, not all giveaways have a lot of entries, and the chances of winning can be good. This is how many baubles your Christmas tree needs. Most puppies will figure chewing is only for the attached toys, but be sure to provide supervision until you're sure they won't over do it. Some puppies have mistaken the entire mat for one big chew toy and ripped it apart. Help your new puppy through his teething stage with N-Bone Puppy Teething Rings. These strong chews give puppies the opportunity to chomp down with permission, instead of being penalized for chewing on valuable household items. Shaped like rings, they are easier for little paws to grip than your average chewing sticks. If you still own your Furby toy, you might be able to sell it for around $900.
