

Christmas craft for teenren

Photo Frame Craft Sky's the limit when it comes to what you can frame in some artistic picture frames. The trend is now moving towards framing patterned wallpapers, fabric, knitted wool, calligraphy letters, and even scrabble letters. Our personal favorite turns to be framing knitted woolen fabric that features a whole lot of colors and patterns. Once completed this masterpiece is sure to take wall tapestry to a whole new level. Take a stroll through the neighborhood and collect a few fall pinecones and pine needles. Arrange this free foliage in glass ornaments, bowls, and hurricane vases for a fragrant and festive look. Match the display to your other holiday decorations by adding a few colored ornaments or tinsel to the mix. Using black paint, permanent marker, or tape, have TEENS create a thick stripe around the middle of a red ornament. Cut a small square of gold glitter paper and cut a smaller square in the middle so it looks like a belt buckle. Glue the buckle to the center of the black line to create Santa's belt. Optimistic Facts That Show the World Isn't Such a Dark Place. Making toilet roll bunnies are a great way of entertaining preschoolers for a while. They're easy and quick to make, and you can build them using things left lying around your home. As well as an empty toilet roll, you also need some fabric, colored paper, and glue. You could buy googly eyes and pipe cleaners but they're not necessary if you'd rather make some adorable bunnies from things leftover from other craft activities. Make the feet and ears from felt or card, and then either use a marker to create the nose and whiskers or use a button and pipe cleaners if you'd like something a little more special. 6 Small Steps You Can Take Today to Get Organized for Good. Trace and cut out a large circle (about 18 inches in diameter) of green construction paper or patterned scrapbook paper. Then, cut out a small circle (about 6 inches in diameter) in the middle to create a wreath shape. Using dots of glue, attach pom poms in various sizes around the wreath to look like berries. 85 Easy DIY Holiday Ornaments for All Ages. To make this sparkly star, push whole and halved toothpicks into a 1-1/2" foam ball. Then apply 1 to 2 coats of silver spray paint. While it's still wet, dust silver glitter over the entire ornament. Once it's dry, use a dab of hot glue to attach a string for hanging. 25 Adorable Christmas Mason Jar Crafts You Can Make Today. Very traditional when done in wood. Scandinavian Christmas! Does anything represent Easter as well for little TEENS as a newborn chick? Once you're finished painting and decorating your eggs, don't throw the boxes away. Instead, change them into adorable chicks which can double as containers for candy. All you need is the leftover egg cartons, some yellow paint which you might have left over from the egg decorating, a black marker pen and some yellow and orange card. You only need to cut out two of the cups and stick them together. Now cut out the beak and feet from orange card and apply those to the chick. Make two eyes with a couple of black dots from your marker and stick two wings made from the yellow card to complete your Easter chick. 26 Affordable
