Finland's Niinistö expresses "grave concern" over Ukraine in call with Putin. But what are the best carols ever written?. The oldest carol on the list, 'Gaudete' is thought to have been composed in the late 16th century- but its melody might even date back to the Middle Ages. Its Latin words simply translate as 'Rejoice, Jesus is born from the Virgin Mary! Rejoice!'. Here is a brilliantly pulsing performance from The King's Singers. This hearty carol is based on the life of Wenceslas, Duke of Bohemia, who became a martyr after being killed by his wicked brother, Boleslaw the Bad. Wenceslas's body lies in St Vitus's Cathedral, Prague, and he was recently made a patron saint of the Czech Republic. The Finnish version was published in the late 19th century. It was not however added to the official Finnish Evangelical Lutheran hymnal until 1986. Written by Scottish poet James Montgomery and first printed on Christmas Eve 1816, this carol sounds just as beautiful today as it did almost 200 years ago. Originally written in German, 'Stille Nacht' was composed in 1818 by Franz Xaver Gruber with lyrics by Joseph Mohr, and was translated to English in 1859. During the Christmas truce of 1914 during World War I, the carol was sung simultaneously by English and German troops. I pulled out a 150-year old Methodist hymnal to see what Christmas hymns and carols people were singing in 1850. We would expect it to be quite different from today, since they had no radio, television, CDs, IPODs, movies, Broadway shows, Muzak, Internet, or shopping malls. As I looked through Hymns for the Use of the Methodist Episcopal Church (1849), I was reminded of just how modern our "traditional" Christmas celebrations really are. Of all the Christmas music listed above, none of it not a single title is included in the 1849 Methodist hymnal. None of the above-mentioned core group of sacred carols and hymns is included in the 1857 edition of this hymnal, and none of the tunes with which we are so familiar are included. So what constituted a typical, traditional Christmas musical experience for worshipers and revelers in 1850? That will take additional research, but it is true that the Christmas of 150 years ago was certainly quite different from the Christmas of today. We owe so much of our modern Christmas experience, including the reveling, the music, the gifting, and the sentimentality, to the impact of Charles Dickens's A Christmas Carol, Thomas Nast's creation of the image of the modern Santa Claus, the rise of American commercialism, and the development of technology. Only Dickens's A Christmas Carol, published in 1843, was in existence in 1850. The observance and celebration of Christmas in 1850 was a smaller, personal, private, and individual matter. The culture and technology of 1850 helped to determine the kind of Christmas the people experienced, just as the culture and technology of 2005 do today. .
